

I came here to look for education. My parents value education so they brought me here. We moved to America, the land of opportunity.

Anonymous, California